Results and indicators for Development

This guidance for action design has been developed by DEVCO Unit 04 “Evaluation and Results” jointly with DEVCO Thematic Units.

It is addressed to all colleagues involved in the preparation of action documents and project documents and offers a handy tool to develop solid logical framework matrices. It identifies clear and measurable results statements that are in line with DEVCO policy priorities, as well as with the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), along with a range of good indicators to monitor progress. It will be updated regularly to reflect evolving priorities.

Its main objective is to enhance the quality of DEVCO interventions – both in terms of design as well as of monitoring and reporting in the course of implementation.

The need for this type of guidance was identified in the framework of the results-reporting process led by DEVCO 04, as well as through its systematic review of all action documents presented to Quality Review Group meetings.

The present guidance covers DEVCO strategies in various sectors, and presents for each sector:

1. EU policy priorities: a short narrative explaining EU policy priorities and commitments as articulated in key policy and strategic documents.

2. Results Chain: a diagram showing the main results (impact, outcomes, outputs) that EU development interventions are expected to achieve in the sector, reflecting EU policy priorities and commitments.

3. List of Sector Indicators: examples of measurable indicators associated to each result statement are provided, that may be used in Logframe Matrices at project/ programme level.

1. EU Policy Priorities

The EU's commitment to democracy is a key component of its foreign policy (Treaty on European Union Art. 21), and inextricably linked to fundamental values of human rights and the rule of law. This commitment is reflected in the EU Agenda for Action on Democracy Support (2009), the Agenda for Change (2011) and most recently the new European Consensus for Development (2017). The European Consensus on Development commits the EU to promoting 'the universal values of democracy, good governance [...] because they are preconditions for sustainable development and stability.' Democracy is thus identified as key to achieving all the Sustainable Development Goals, although it is given specific prominence in SDG 16.

There is no consensus on what is meant by democracy, although most agree that 'free and fair' elections and related political freedoms are essential elements. EU Democracy support has traditionally focused on four areas: (i) inclusive, transparent and credible electoral processes; (ii) constitutional reform and democratic institutions; (iii) political and civil society and (iv) promotion of fundamental freedoms.

The proposed democracy results chain is a practical tool that aims to support DEVCO staff in the design of interventions in line with the New Consensus on Development, and in support of the SDGs.

The results chain takes a Rights Based Approach at output level, focusing on both rights holders and duty bearers. Outputs can be categorised into support for the following broad areas:

1. Civil society,
2. Participation in key policy areas,
3. Independent media,
4. Fundamental freedoms,
5. Oversight bodies and accountability,
6. Parliaments and political parties,
7. Electoral management bodies and the electoral process,
8. Legal identity services.

The above components are crucial for contributing to the following results at outcome level:

1. Enhanced enabling environment for civil society,
2. Increased participation of CSOs in tackling climate change, youth inclusion, irregular migration, forced displacement, women's participation in decision-making, and mitigating risks and vulnerabilities in fragile and conflict-affected countries,
3. Effectiveness of CSO advocacy strengthened with participation in development policy debate and oversight, including for SDG implementation,
4. Enhanced enabling environment for the media to operate without interference,
5. Enhanced constitutional and legal framework for independent work of oversight bodies, including Parliament,
6. Improved effectiveness of Parliamentary functions,
7. Improved contributions of political parties to democratic processes,
8. Political party system is conducive to political participation,
9. Increased public participation, including of women and underrepresented groups, in the overall democratic process,
10. Improved electoral operational efficiency, integrity and accuracy of electoral processes,
11. Increased rates of registration for legal identity.

Those six main results are crucial for improving (i) trust in representative democracy, (ii) transparency and accountability of democratic institutions, and (iii) inclusiveness of the democratic process. The ultimate aim at impact level is to foster a functioning, pluralistic, participatory and representative democracy.

This results chain and the list of proposed indicators are a practical tool that will need to be adapted to the specific context and circumstances of each country and intervention. They do not aim to be exhaustive and in several cases will have to be used in complementarity with other results chains, such as those on justice and the rule of law, human rights, anti-corruption, SSR etc. This results chain and the list of proposed indicators also aim to be an interactive tool, to be adapted and improved over time taking into consideration the feedbacks of its users.
