

Session B2:

Territorial Approach to Local Development: (Part II) Building blocks

Eugène ZAPATA-GARESCHÉ

Team Leader, TALD Facility and Helpdesk, DEVCO C5

GLOBAL VIRTUAL SEMINAR
Territorial Approach to Local Development (TALD)
JULY 20-24, 2020

Organised by the European Commission's DG DEVCO, Unit C5 - Cities, Local Authorities, Digitalisation, Infrastructure

Reminder:

The Territorial Approach to Local Development (TALD)

It is a policy to be adopted in a specific country that recognizes the essential role of local authorities as the main actors in the definition, planning and implementation of local development strategies in the long term.

Reminder:

The Territorial Approach to Local Development (TALD)

TALD implies a certain degree of local autonomy and self-government, as well as an enabling institutional and legal environment for participatory governance and social accountability

Reminder:

TALD is:

- ✓ Endogenous: based on local grass roots resources
- ✓ Spatially integrated: goes beyond the typical fragmentation caused by political and administrative boundaries as well as by traditional sectorial programming
- ✓ Multi-level: supported by a set of diverse actors from the private and public sectors, acting under a shared vision
- ✓ Incremental: complementary and in coherence with the efforts of other levels of government (1+1+1=4!)

Main ideas:

- 1. Not every LA is ready for TALD
- 2. TALD is context specific, no one-size fits all
- 3. TALD is not linear, it is an iterative process

Main ideas:

4. TALD needs to be monitored in order to be improved

5. TALD works better when facilitated

Main ideas:

6. TALD takes time, no quantum leaps here

7. TALD is good to pilot a new:
