UNDP as a Development Cooperation Partner

Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.

- Promotion of the knowledge exchange: transitional experience, national best practices, specialists and young professionals – logical next step in the partnership with the governments of “graduating” countries
- ODA effectiveness: quality assurance, transparency, management, administration, sound programming and reporting
- Assistance in establishing appropriate institutional infrastructure for ODA
- Public awareness raising and MDG advocate
- Network of UNDP Country Offices = implementation and learning tool

Major Results

Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.

- ODA capacity building projects in the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Hungary, Baltic countries, Slovenia, Romania, Russia (Rossotrudnichestvo), Turkey (TIKA), Croatia
- Trust Funds with the Czech Republic, Slovakia, and Hungary, over $ 22 million delivery since 2003 + close and growing cooperation with Romania
- Series of learning events: regional emerging donor meetings, workshops, study tours since 2000
- Joint programme for ODA awareness raising with the EC: Kapuscinski lectures

Remaining Challenges for Emerging Donors

*Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.*

- Setting up national institutions dealing specifically with development cooperation issues in a coordinated and efficient way
- Human resources for development cooperation
- Programme based and demand driven approach
- Effective use of multi-lateral channels
- Monitoring and evaluation mechanisms
- Coordination with other donors
- ODA budgets (0,1% of GNI at the moment, EC targets for EDs 0,17 by 2010 and 0,33 by 2015)

Lessons Learned

*Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.*

1. Long-term engagement pays off
2. Ups & downs inevitable: political /economic factors
3. The new donors should be in the driving seat
4. Every donor can have a unique place in global ODA
5. Concerted effort with other donors
6. Value added with modest funding is possible, if focused on knowledge assets
7. The power of networks: between countries, with NGOs and academia and with recipients on the ground

Tasks ahead of us (1)

Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.

1. Reinvigorate ODA discourse and ambitions to become even more relevant ODA providers
  - = Busan HLF + Rio+20 and post-2015 as entry point?
  - = How can we use multilateral forums: Bali, DCF, etc.?
2. ODA evaluations as a feedback, transparency and learning mechanism + opportunity to focus public attention.
  - = getting real feedback from recipient countries
  - = innovative tools, e.g. real simple reporting?
3. New generation of communication and development education tools: social media, crowdsourcing, etc.
  - = two-way communication to solve problems

Tasks ahead of us (2)

Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.

4. Programming approach: designing fewer, but larger, substantively focused and results-driven ODA programmes
  - = knowledge packages / comparative advantage
  - = crucial role of NGOs and academia as partners
  - = joint programs, e.g. with UNDP country offices
5. “Beyond Aid” agenda: making post-Busan a reality?
  - = Sustainability as a key substantive driver
  - = Decentralized cooperation (NGO2NGO, town2town)
  - = “ODA plus” & involving private sector (Istanbul Center)
  - = Triangular & other flexible network solutions focused on knowledge sharing

UNDP plans

*Empowered lives.
Resilient nations.*

- Slovak, Czech, Hungarian Trust Funds continue
- Innovative partnership with Poland, based on a growing portfolio of triangular cooperation projects
- New partnership with Romania on ODA cooperation and capacity building (and possibly a similar one with Croatia)
- TIKA – UNDP: new stage of capacity building, with focus on business processes, country strategies, sustainable investing & possible DAC accession support
- New service lines in Bratislava Regional Center: practical support to innovative & cost-effective ODA and knowledge sharing practices
