Conference Programme

The Technical Programme Chairman of the 21st EU BC&E will be Dr. David Baxter of the Joint Research Centre (JRC), European Commission.

The nomination of Dr. Baxter underlines the sustained commitment of the European Commission to the further development of Biomass technologies and its industries and markets in Europe and beyond.

The International Scientific Committee, made up of around 140 senior experts from the global scientific community will contribute to set the conference programme to the highest scientific standards.

Technical Programme Chairman

Dr. David Baxter, Joint Research Center (JRC), European Commission

"I encourage and invite all of you to advance your ideas and take part in the discussions which will take place at the 21st EU BC&E in Copenhagen."

The main conference topics will include:

- Biomass Resources
- R&D on Biomass Conversion Technologies for Heating, Electricity and Chemicals
- R&D on Processes for Solid, Liquid and Gaseous Fuels from Biomass
- Industrial Demonstration and Business Concepts
- Biomass Policies, Markets and Sustainability

Peer Review : The authors of a selected number of the highest scored abstracts will be invited to submit full papers for peer reviewed and publication in the renowned scientific journal Biomass & Bioenergy, published by Elsevier. This publication will be in addition to the publication in the Conference Proceedings of the 21st EU BC&E.

EU BC&E Student Awards : In order to encourage high-quality work amongst young researchers, the EU BC&E Students Awards will be presented in recognition of the most remarkable and outstanding research work in the field of Biomass. The Scientific Committee may nominate up to 5 awardees, maximum one for each main Conference Topic.

Citability of papers : All submitted final papers of plenary, oral and visual presentations will be published online and coded by a digital identifier (DOI code) provided by the German National Library of Science and Technology. Furthermore all submitted final papers will be sent to the Scopus and Thomson Reuters - Conference Proceedings Citation Index (ISI Proceedings) for review and index.
