Guidance on Results and Indicators for Development

General Introduction

The guidance on thematic results and indicators covers DG INTPA strategies in various sectors, aiming to enhance the quality of our interventions – in terms of design, monitoring in the course of implementation. It also aims to promote the use of standardized information across European Union-funded interventions in partner countries. DG INTPA unit in charge of monitoring results (D.4) and thematic units developed the guidance.

It is addressed to EC staff and external partners involved in the preparation of action documents and project documents, helping them to develop solid logical framework matrices. It identifies clear and measurable results statements in line with DG INTPA policy priorities, as well as with the UN Sustainable Development Goals \(SDGs\), NDICI Regulation, Gender Action Plan \(GAP III\) and the EU Results Framework, along with a range of good indicators to monitor progress.

DG INTPA's results reporting and Action Document quality assurance processes identified the need for such guidance.

This guidance presents for each sector:

1. EU policy priorities: a short narrative explaining EU policy priorities and commitments as articulated in key policy and strategic documents.

2. A results chain: a diagram showing the main results (impact, outcomes, outputs) that EU development interventions are expected to achieve in the given thematic area, reflecting EU policy priorities and commitments.

3. Thematic indicators: examples of measurable indicators associated to each result statement, that may be used in Logframe Matrices at project / programme level.

1. EU Policy Priorities

The EU has developed a number of policies in response to the complexity of operating in situations of fragility and conflict. These policies are founded on the EU's commitment to “preserve peace, prevent conflict and strengthen international security” now enshrined in the Treaty on the European Union as part of its foreign policy (art. 21.2). This policy framework is based on the understanding that fragility and conflict are interlinked in relation to the consequences they yield, the causes they are rooted in and the complexity of the cycles of fragility, violence and conflict.

16 PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

Also related to to any of the other 16 SDGs, depending of the dimension of resilience that is addressed.

Resilience, Conflict Sensitivity and Peace

Strengthening resilience has emerged as an EU priority to address the multidimensional challenges of fragility. The 2012 EU definition of resilience refers to the “ability of an individual, a household, a community, a country or a region to withstand, adapt and quickly recover from shocks and pressures in a manner that reduces vulnerabilities and risks”.

The 2017 Joint Communication on Resilience has expanded very clearly this notion to all dimensions of fragility and resilience (social/political/economic/environmental and security-related, see OECD framework, States of Fragility reports).

The EU's strategic approach in this key Communication aims at achieving and sustaining the ambitious set of objectives of all EU's external action, by strengthening:

- the adaptability of states, societies, communities and individuals to political, economic, environmental, demographic or societal pressures, in order to sustain progress towards national development goals.
- the capacity of a state - in the face of significant pressures to build, maintain or restore its core functions, and basic social and political cohesion, in a manner that ensures respect for democracy, rule of law, human and fundamental rights and fosters inclusive long-term security and progress;
- the capacity of societies, communities and individuals to manage opportunities and risks in a peaceful and stable manner, and to build, maintain or restore livelihoods in the face of major pressures.

The 2017 New European Consensus on Development recognises that “poverty, conflict, fragility and forced displacement are deeply interlinked and must be addressed in a coherent and comprehensive way” and that EU and its Member States should “address their root causes at all levels”, ranging e.g. from exclusion, inequality, human rights violations, absence of the rule of law to environmental degradation and climate change.

The 2016 EU Global Strategy \(EUGS\) acknowledges that fragile states increasingly break down in violent conflict and that “once a conflict does erupt, it typically becomes ever more intractable over time”.

In January 2018, the Council of the European Union adopted the EU Integrated Approach to External Conflicts and Crises, stressing the need to mainstream conflict sensitivity into EU’s engagement in fragile contexts (as already stated in the Consensus in relation to conflict-sensitive approaches to development). The Council also emphasized the importance of the rule of law, respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms as well as the Responsibility to Protect. It further stressed the importance of local ownership, inclusiveness, resilience and sustainability of supported actors by engaging with national and local authorities, community and civil society.

Humanitarian-Development-Peace Nexus

The New Consensus for Development also recognises that the “nexus between sustainable development, humanitarian action, peace and security” should be part of the comprehensive approach to conflict and crises, and this in turn should aim to address the root causes of fragility and conflict as part of the humanitarian-development nexus. This need to be supported by joint analysis (including conflict analyses) or assessments (including resilience and/or conflict sensitivity assessments) and joint planning and monitoring exercises throughout which stakeholders from all fields are integrated and represented.

Conflict Sensitivity and Conflict Analysis

A central element of the Integrated Approach is that “joint conflict analyses are systematically carried out and updated for countries that are at risk of or facing conflict or instability and where the EU has a significant engagement” and that these analyses inform also the process of strategic engagement of the EU such as regional and Joint Programming. The Integrated Approach demands therefore that “EU’s engagement in fragile contexts [should] work in a conflict sensitive manner”. Likewise, in the Consensus for Development, the EU and its Member States commit to pursue synergies in fragile and conflict affected countries through shared knowledge and analysis, including joint conflict analysis, and to “integrate conflict sensitivity in all their work, to maximise the positive impact on peace”.

The EU Strategic Approach to Women, Peace and Security

The European Union has made policy commitments to promote the role of women in peace building and to enhance the implementation of United Security Council (UNSC) Resolutions 1325 and 1820 and related resolutions in its external actions and has developed a strategic approach to their implementation. This approach recognises the close links between the issues of peace, security, development and gender equality. This means that beyond promoting the participation and the protection of women in conflict situations and peace building, the EU should strive to consider long-term development and human security concerns and the promotion of women's rights and gender equality in conflict affected countries at all stages of the conflict cycle, including recovery.

Sector Guidance

The creation of the Results Chain was particularly challenging due to the fact that the dimensions of resilience are all-encompassing and need to consider different levels of resilience such as individual/household/community/state. The Resilience dimensions were used to guide the outcome levels:

1. People and Societal Resilience
2. Political Resilience and Peacebuilding
3. Economic Resilience
4. Environmental Resilience
5. Security Resilience

Another dimension (Partnerships and Integrated Approaches) has been added with regard to the essential requirement of joint, shared analysis and the development of analytical tools and processes used in different settings to promote resilience and conflict sensitivity. This dimension also reflects the need to operationalise more consistently the Humanitarian-Development-Peace Nexus among EU and international actors, and to ensure the integration of disaster risk management, reduction and preparedness.

The sample indicators drew on already existing Results Chain as well as specific indicators related to EU and other international indexes and frameworks (EU Global Conflict Risk Index, Sendai Framework, OECD framework on fragility dimensions, etc.)

The proposed indicators are just sample indicators and need to be adapted to the specific context and circumstances of each country, programme and intervention. They will be changed and improved over time through the feedback of the users.

2. Results Chain

OUTPUTS ..... Specific Objectives – OUTCOMES ..... Overall Objective – IMPACT

Partnership & Integrated Approaches	Security resilience	Environmental resilience	Economic resilience	Political resilience & peacebuilding	People and societal resilience
22. Enhanced coordination of international actors for the implementation of the Integrated Approach to external conflicts and crises and the Humanitarian-Peace Nexus, including implementing partners (ie based on relevant shared analysis by donors/implementers/partner country stakeholders, through RPBA, PDNA, conflict analysis, mainstreaming of conflict sensitivity, conflict early warning systems, Responsibility to Protect (RtP) assessments, etc.)	21. Strengthened capacities of government, civil society and other actors for conflict prevention, including general prevention of societal violence, social conflict and violent extremism (eg. alternative dispute resolution, mediation, mitigation and resolution, early warning systems, intergroup and interfaith dialogue, peace education)	17. Strengthened local, national and regional authorities' capacity to prevent and address environmental degradation, pollution and the effects of climate change (eg. mitigation and adaptation strategies and measures, including into livelihood strategies, education and health)	12. Strengthened government and private sector capacity to ensure access to financing, to diversify markets and to meet trade standards (including social and environmental aspects, as well as labour rights and human rights)	8. Enhanced support measures for inclusive peacebuilding, through support to peace processes, implementation of peace agreements and recovery plans, effective Disarmament, Demobilisation and Reintegration (DDR) of ex combatants and child soldiers, and Small Arms and Light Weapons (SALW) control	4. Strengthened capacities for durable solutions of issues affecting refugees, IDPs, migrants and host communities (eg. on issues related to gender equality and women's empowerment, conflict prevention between host/resident communities and displaced persons/returnees, creation of livelihoods, inclusive rural development, food security, education, health, etc.)
23. Strengthened sectoral and thematic policy dialogue on the basis of specific indicators on resilience, conflict sensitivity and peace, when applicable.	20. Strengthened capacities of states and societies to prevent and respond to sexual and gender-based violence in crisis and post-crisis situations (whether conflict or disaster) and to ensure active women's participation in recovery, reconstruction and peacebuilding	16. Strengthened capacities of government authorities and communities for inclusive, transparent and sustainable management of natural resources (including conflict sensitive and rights based land management and use)	11. Strengthened government capacity to design, implement and sustain nationally-owned and -led shock-resistant social protection systems with particular attention to children, women and those living in marginalised/vulnerable situations	7. Strengthened capacities of civil society and government authorities to contribute effectively to human rights protection, justice sector reforms in line with international best standards, transitional justice mechanisms and security sector reform	3. Strengthened capacities of communities and civil society to prevent, mitigate and manage risks, including those related to conflicts, natural hazards, climate change, etc.
	19. Strengthened capacity of all relevant stakeholders involved in the security sector to deliver on core security functions in a manner, which is inclusive, accountable and compliant with international humanitarian and human rights laws, also with regard to gender equality and women's empowerment.	15. Social, environmental, climate and disaster risk assessments promoted in the public and private sector, as well as risk reduction and management strategies, including the integration of key information into early warning systems (related to disasters, conflicts, etc.)	10. Strengthened institutional capacities at central and local level to respond to economic shocks linked to natural disasters, conflicts and other crises, and to promote inclusive and accountable recovery and reconstruction	6. Improved opportunities and capacities for political participation of all layers of the population, including greater spaces for democratic dialogue and civil society, with a focus on peaceful and inclusive reconciliation, and women and those living in marginalised/vulnerable situations as positive agents for change	2. Strengthened capacity of civil society to promote and advocate for socio-economic, cultural, civil and political rights, including provision of key services, particularly in countries at high risk of conflict, in a crisis or post-disaster mode, and/or in post-conflict transitional and reconciliation processes
		14. Increased access to food and capacities for diversified food production, climate sensitive and inclusive agriculture, based on secure land tenure	9. Strengthened government's capacity for effective public finance management, including transparent and competitive public procurement, effective fight against corruption and improved accountability at different institutional and societal levels	5. Strengthened human and institutional capacities to provide more equitable, inclusive, accountable and sustainable services (health, justice, education, sanitation, social protection, transport, urban planning, land and natural resources management, energy provision, water services, etc.)	1. Strengthened capacity of communities and civil society, including women, youth and those living in marginalised/vulnerable situations, to participate and engage in political, social, cultural and economic development processes and in inclusive peacebuilding, recovery, reconstruction

Specific Objectives – OUTCOMES ..... Overall Objective – IMPACT

1. Improved / maintained / restored equitable access to and use of essential services and protection of human rights	2. Improved inclusive, participatory, accountable and representative democratic processes and decision making at all levels	3. Improved access to independent and impartial justice and information for all, including increased legal empowerment, compensation, transparency and accountability	4. Increased social cohesion and social inclusion of communities and societies	5. Enhanced adaptability, diversification and inclusivity of economic systems	6. More inclusive, climate-sensitive and environmentally sound management of land, natural resources and ecosystems	7. Reduced exposure and vulnerability to natural and man-made hazard and disasters, and their underlying structural risks	8. Enhanced ownership and inclusivity of peacebuilding and conflict prevention processes at local, national and international levels	9. Enhanced early warning, early action and response to crisis, disasters and conflicts

To build, sustain and restore advancement towards inclusive and sustainable development and peace - in the context of political, security, economic, social and environmental shocks and pressures, including conflict-related risks and impacts

Related SDGs
Primary SDGs:
 (1) – End poverty in all its forms everywhere.

(16) – Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice to all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels.

Secondary SDGs:
 Any of the other 15 SDGs, depending of the dimension of resilience that is addressed.

- PDNA = Post Disaster Needs Assessment
- RPBA = Recovery and Peacebuilding Assessment
- EU conflict EWS = EU conflict Early Warning System
