Experience exchange between GCoM signatory cities in Latin America and the Caribbean

Inaugural session: Unlocking local climate action in the Caribbean and Latin America. The way forward

DAY 1 - 23/10

9 am to 1 pm (local time)

Marriott Hotel, room Colón 1 (2nd floor)

Target audience: Latin American and Caribbean local government representatives (both GCoM signatories and non-signatories), DFIs, international organisations, and private sector companies.

Languages: English, Spanish, Portuguese (interpretation available)

Introduction: The inaugural session will bring together representatives of local and national governments, city networks, development financial institutions, and the private sector to discuss opportunities to unlock local climate action in the region.

With this session, the GCoM aims to consider the challenges that cities in the region face to finance their low-carbon, climate-resilient, and just development. The main topic relates to accessing international climate and development finance and investments, and the event will allow participants to engage in a meaningful conversation on opportunities for overcoming those challenges in a just and socially equitable way to leave no one behind.

 9:00 am - 11:00 am (local time)

 Bristol Hotel, room 5 (4th floor)

Target audience: Caribbean local governments representatives (GCoM signatories)

Languages: English

Introduction: In the context of their commitment to GCoM, cities are required to develop Climate Action Plans that adhere to a methodology with specific minimum requirements.

The purpose of this session is to assist cities in understanding various definitions and key steps, such as constructing the Baseline Emission Inventory (BEI) and conducting the Climate Risk and Vulnerability Assessment (CRVA). These elements form the foundation for establishing targets and strategically planning actions. The session is organized in partnership with the Joint Research Center of the European Commission (JRC).

Proposed agenda

The City Climate Finance Gap Fund Workshop – Caribbean cities

DAY 2 - 24/10

 11:30 am – 1:30 pm (local time)

 Bristol Hotel, room 5 (4th floor)

Target audience: Caribbean local governments representatives (GCoM signatories)

Languages: English

Introduction:

The City Climate Finance Gap Fund (Gap Fund) is a multi-fund technical assistance facility for assistance to cities implemented by the World Bank and the European Investment Bank, aimed at supporting early-stage low-carbon and climate-resilient urban development projects. This fund and the Global Covenant of Mayors for Climate & Energy (GCoM) have partnered with the purpose of expanding knowledge and understanding of the Gap Fund, facilitating partnerships and exchange of experiences between cities, and supporting cities in assessing climate challenges and priorities.

This Gap Fund training aims to equip the attending local government representatives with the knowledge and tools to effectively engage with the Gap Fund, including understanding the eligibility criteria and the process for submitting Expressions of Interest (EoIs). Through interactive exercises and case studies, participants will gain practical insights into completing an EoI and learn from successful application examples. Additionally, the training seeks to foster collaboration and knowledge sharing among cities and networks, promoting the integration of low-carbon and climate-resilient development strategies into urban planning and implementation efforts.
