

EU External Action: Fragility, Security and Development in a Changing World

Brussels, 27 – 29 April 2016
(ESDC Activity Number 15-16/26/1)

Invitation

The European Commission/Directorate General for International Cooperation and Development and the European Security and Defence College have the honour to invite you to the 5th edition of the seminar "EU External Action: Fragility, Security and Development in a Changing World", to be held in Brussels, from 27th to 29th of April 2016.

The seminar is based on the link between security and development as key underlying principle of the EU's Comprehensive Approach to external conflicts and crises. This security-development nexus is central to maximising the effectiveness of the EU's external action in fragile and conflict-affected countries. It means that "security is a precondition for development" and that "without development and poverty eradication there will be no sustainable peace".

For a few years now, the European Commission and the European External Action Service, together with the Member States, have been working on ways to better unite their efforts in different external relations domains, in capitals and on the ground. As part of this approach we designed and organized together an annual seminar to support developments at policy level. The overall goal is to increase the mutual understanding between security, development and humanitarian actors from EU institutions, EU Member States and EU Agencies, and to bring them all together to work in a joined-up and strategic manner in the spirit of the EU Comprehensive Approach.

During this highly inter-active seminar, participants will develop a better understanding of the institutional set-up of the EU and the relevant instruments and operating procedures. The EU's internal and selected external speakers will provide a comprehensive overview on the EU's strategies and policies revolving around security, fragility and development. All these topics will be deepened with real-life case studies and exercises aimed at further enhancing hands-on learning, building up critical and holistic thinking and promoting a cooperative problem-solving spirit.

We therefore take great pleasure in inviting you to nominate participants for this course, which provides a good opportunity to gain a proper understanding of the security-development nexus and to contribute to the further development of a European security culture. The nominees should have worked a minimum of two years in the field of security or development and should be able to contribute from their experience to the discussions that will take place during the seminar.
