

STIE
JE
ANA
LVA

A DESIGNER'S VIEW ON EMPOWERING WOMEN

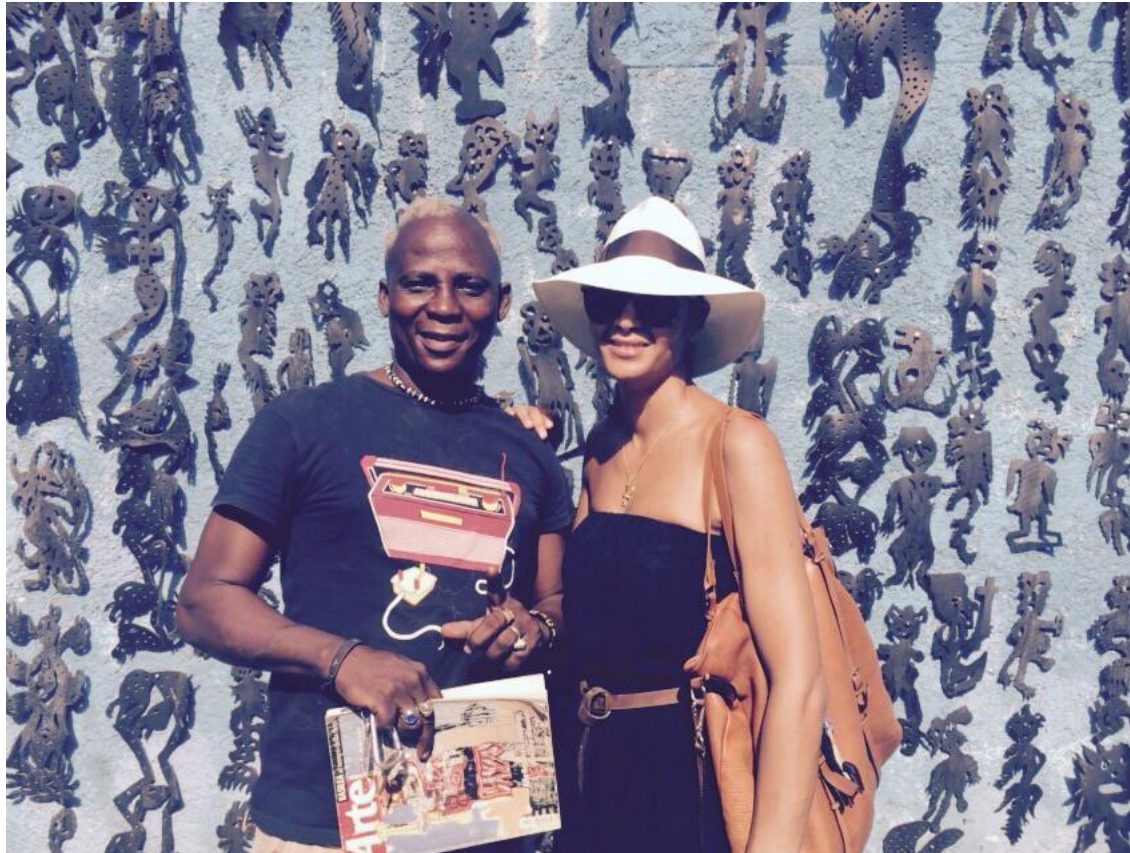

Stella Jean, amongst the delegation members of the Clinton Foundation project to foster socent & economic growth in Haiti, with Chelsea Clinton

Stella Jean with Clinton Foundation visiting the Ghetto Biennale in Haiti and meeting the Haitian artist André Eugène.

Stella Jean together with The Haitian Network of Designers (HAND), The Centre Haitien d'Appui et de Promotion d'Entreprises (CHAPE) and the founders Maguy Durce, Michel Chataigne, Maelle Figaro David, inaugurating ModAyiti, a grounded garment workshop that employs more than 100 women between craftsmen, seamstresses, and pattern makers.

Stella Jean together with The Haitian Network of Designers (HAND), The Centre Haitien d'Appui et de Promotion d'Entreprises (CHAPE) and the founders Maguy Durce, Michel Chataigne, Maelle Figaro David, inaugurating ModAyiti, a grounded garment workshop that employs more than 100 women between craftsmen, seamstresses, and pattern makers.

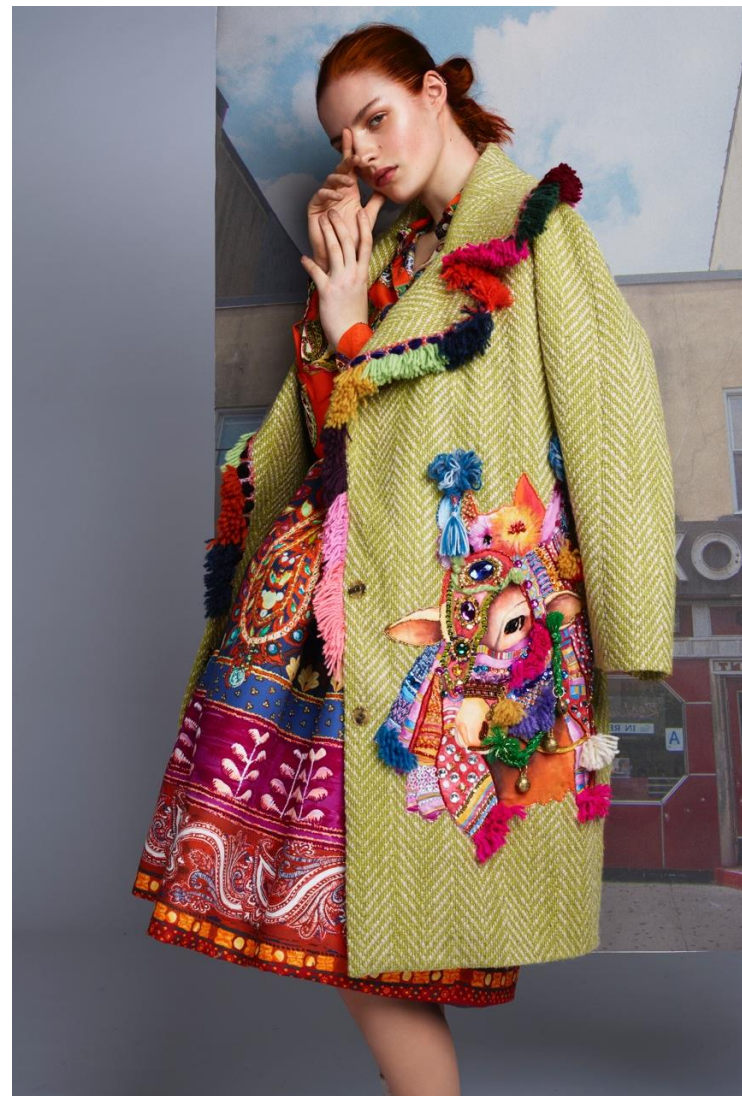

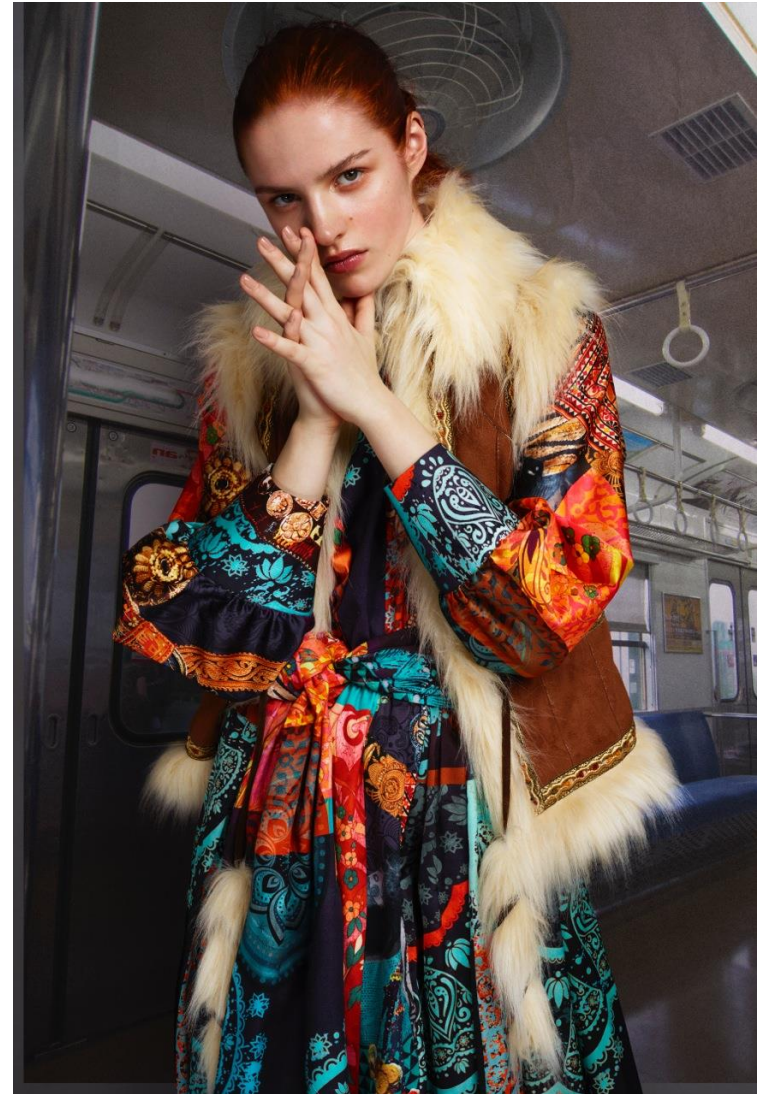

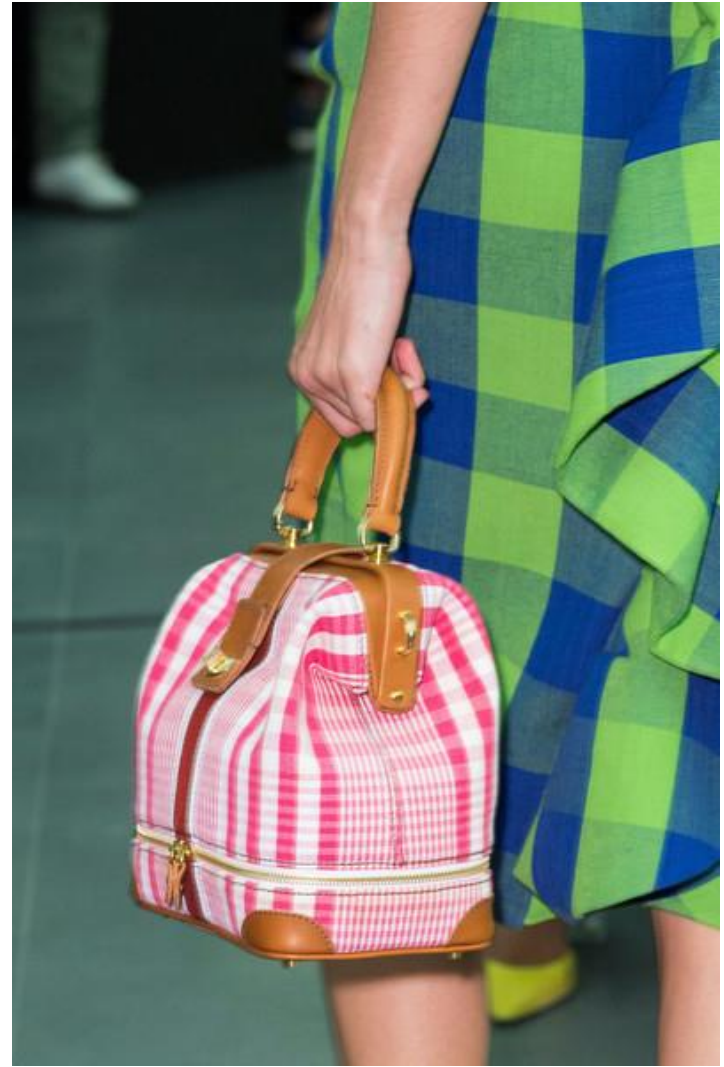

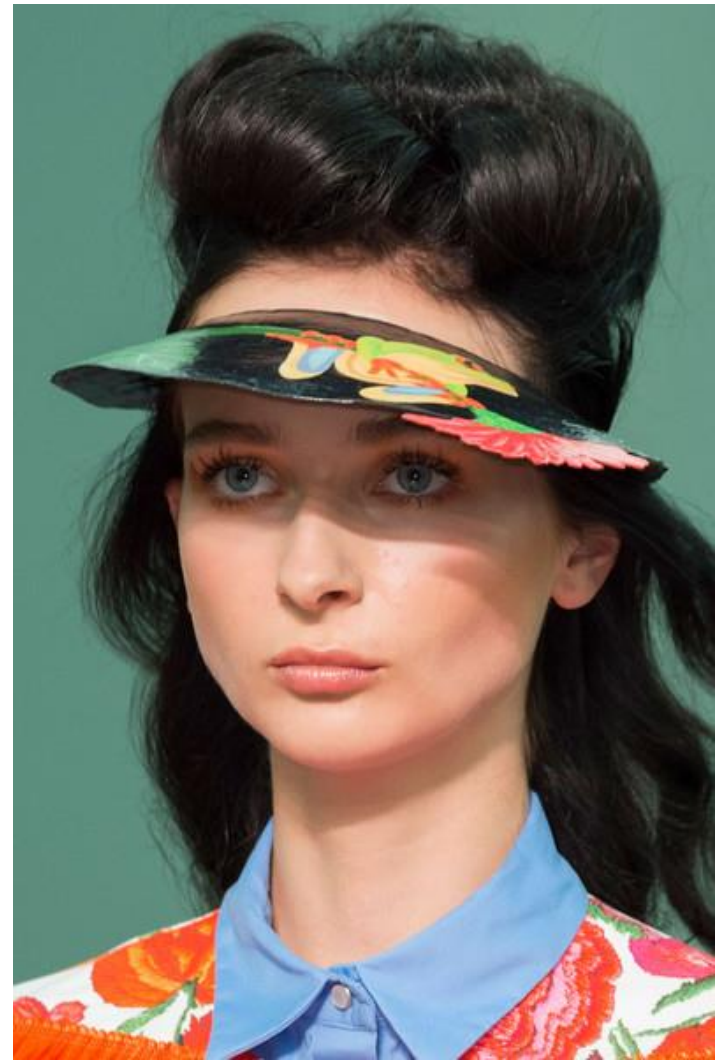

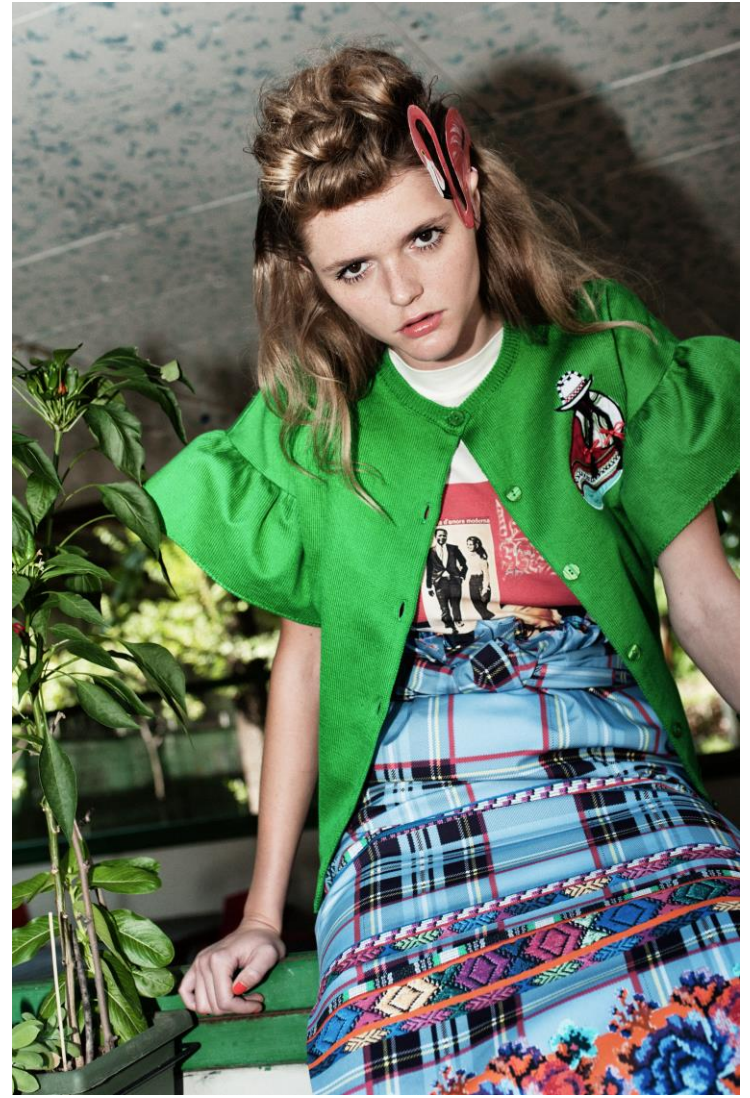

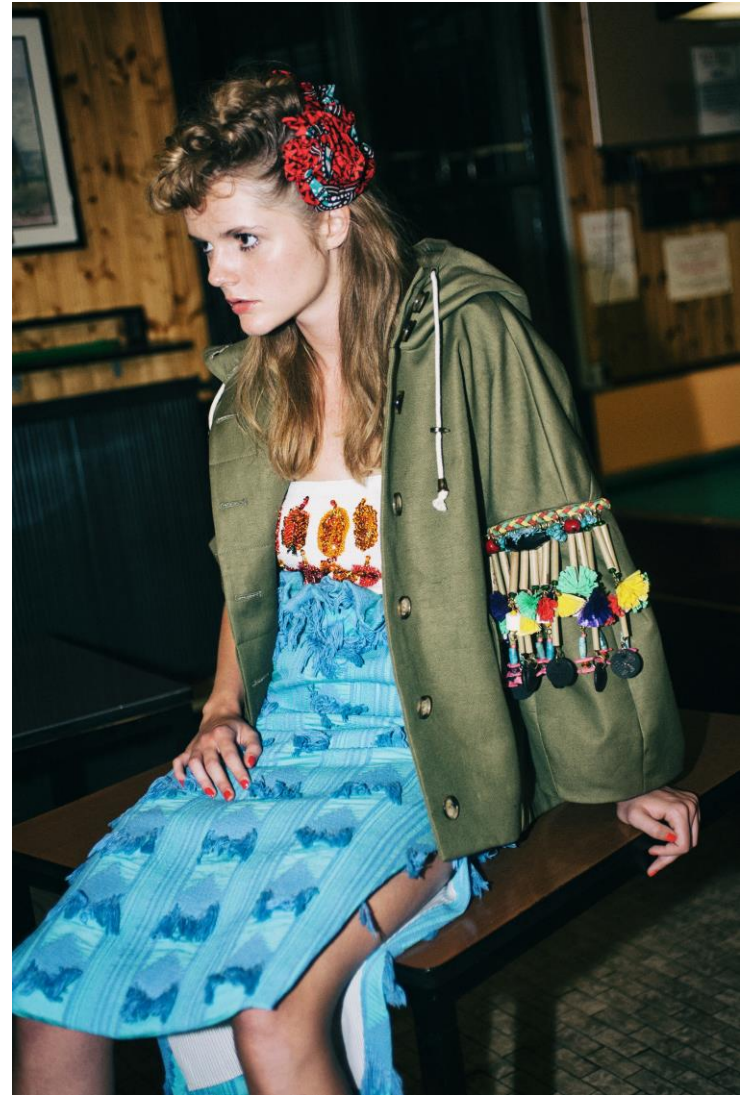

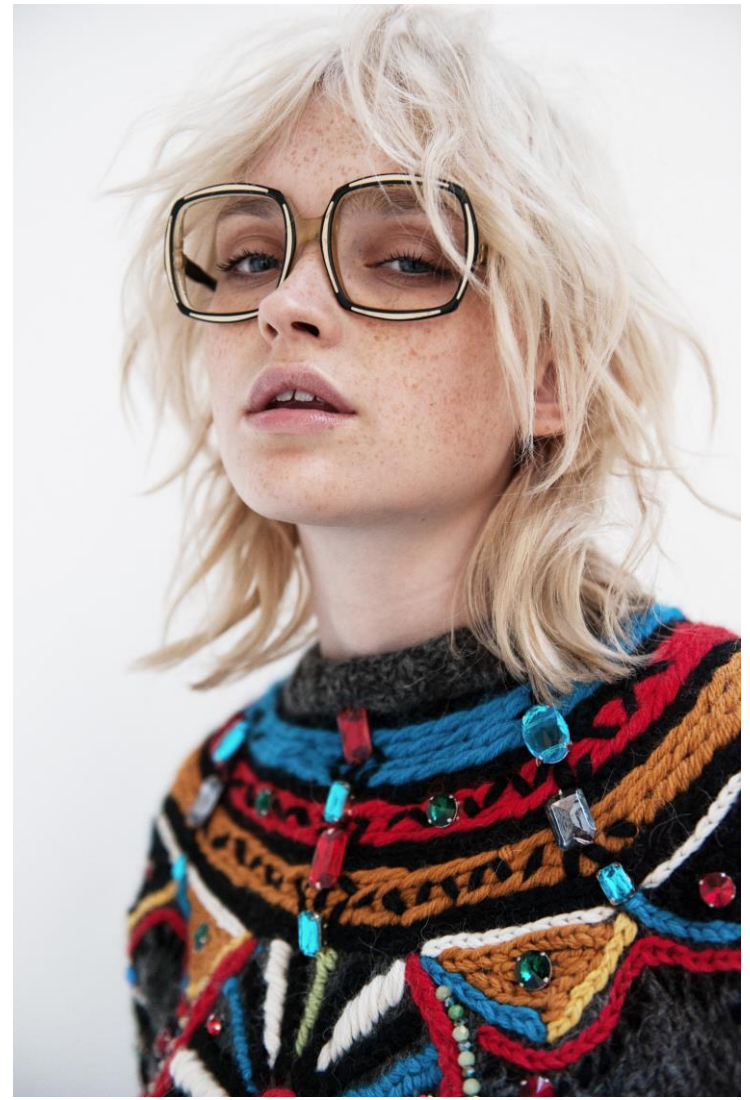

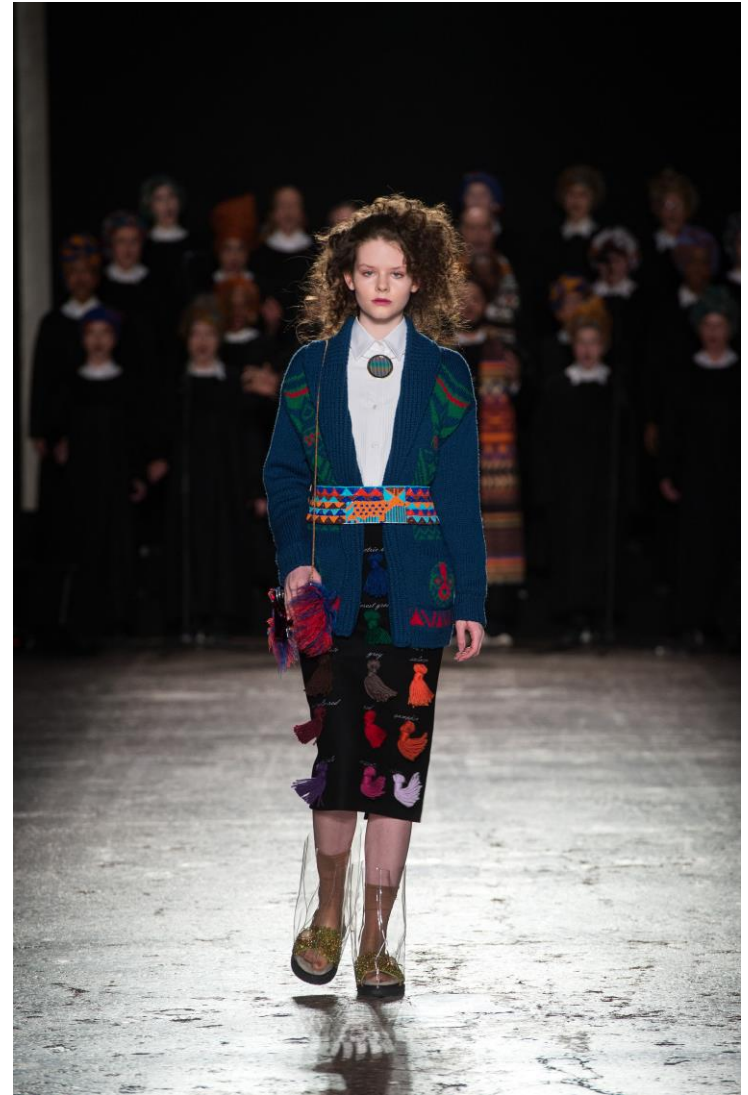

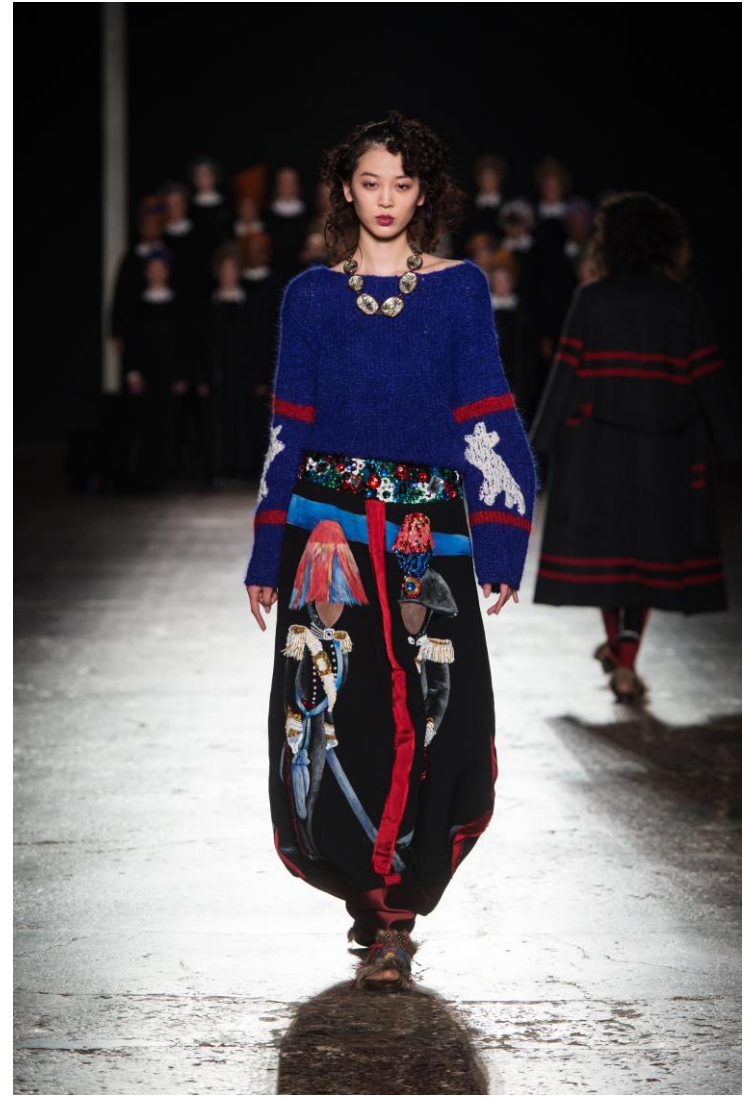

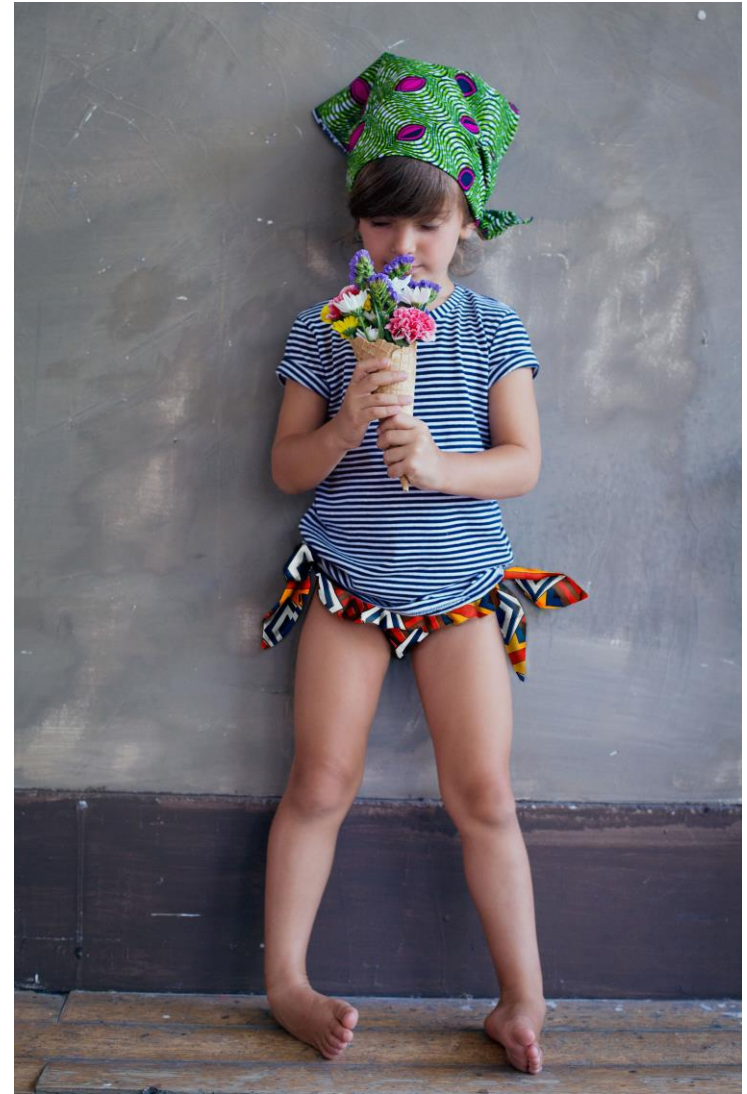

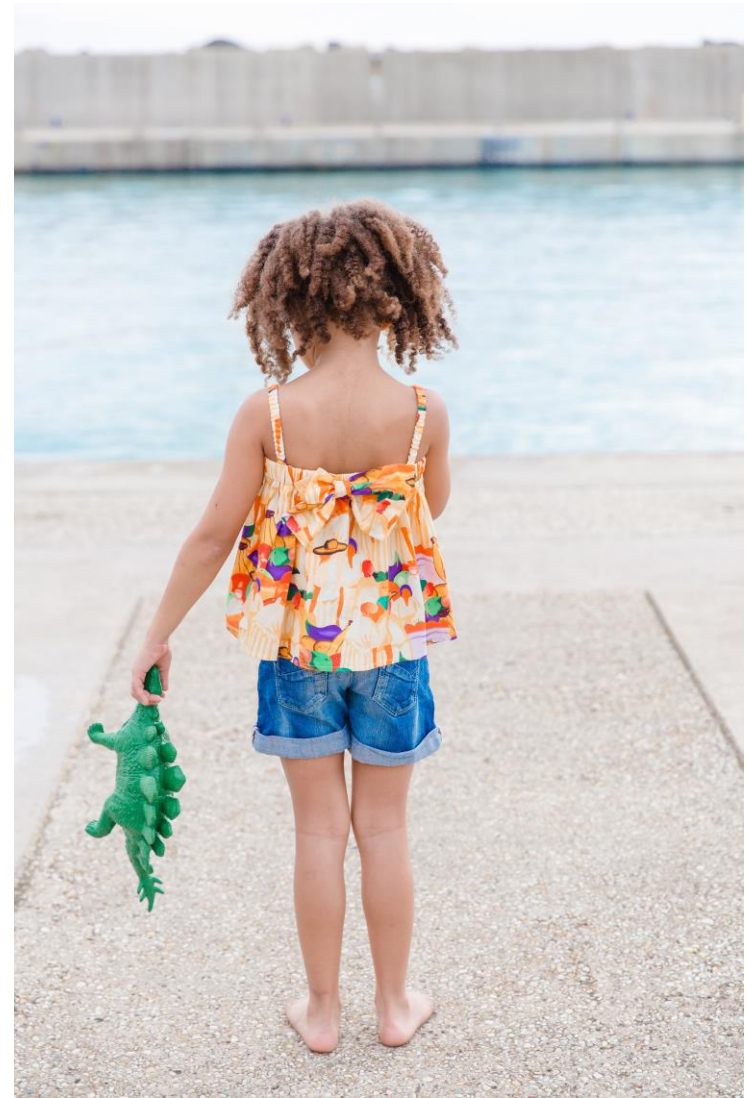

Stella Jean as a speaker of the “Power of Empowered Women” panel at the Palace of United Nations in Geneva

“Global Fashion Capitals” → Fashion Culture: Stella Jean in conversation with Ariele Elia and Elizabeth Way

Stella Jean at TEDxMilanoWomen: fashion as intercultural value sharing

"Global Fashion Capitals" at FIT

Italian Embassy in London → evening in honor of Sonnet Stanfill, curator of the exhibition "The Glamour of Italian Fashion 1945-2014" held at the Victoria and Albert Museum

THANK YOU